Marpu Foundation

marpu (1).png Marpu Foundation is a youth-run non-governmental organisation in India, backed by presidential awardees of India and UN awardees. It works to help young people grow into global citizens who care about the world around them. The foundation encourages young minds to take on different social issues and to push forward sustainability through youth-led activities. This role sits within Marpu Foundation's field activities work, which plans and runs events that bring young people together around the foundation's mission.

Role

As a Field Activity Facilitator Intern, you will plan and run activities and events that make a real difference for participants and their communities. You will work closely with volunteers, participants and partners, guide a small team through each event, and help the foundation learn what works so every activity gets better. This is a part-time, one-month internship with flexible hours, open to freshers.

Responsibilities

- Plan and run activities and events that fit the foundation's mission and values.
- Communicate clearly with participants, volunteers and partners so every activity runs smoothly.
- Lead and motivate team members through planning and on the day of each event.
- Manage resources and logistics so each activity or event succeeds.
- Deliver clear and engaging presentations to different audiences.
- Collect feedback from participants after each activity.
- Review the feedback and suggest ways to improve future events.
- Work with other team members to come up with new ideas that grow the impact of the foundation's programmes.

Requirements

- Available to work part time for one month.
- Able to start between 11 September and 16 October 2026.
- Based in or able to work from Ahmedabad, Chennai, Hyderabad, Mumbai or Bengaluru.
- Freshers are welcome to apply.
- Clear communication with people from different backgrounds.
- Confidence giving presentations to groups.
- Ability to plan events and handle resources and logistics.
- Good coordination skills to keep volunteers and partners on the same page.
- Leadership skills to guide and motivate a team.
- Interest in community work and youth-led social change.

Benefits

- Monthly stipend of ₹2,500 to ₹6,000, made up of a fixed pay of ₹2,000 to ₹5,000 and an incentive of ₹500 to ₹1,000.
- Flexible work hours.
- Hands-on experience planning and leading community events.

Marpu Foundation, meaning "transformation," is a Hyderabad-based charitable society founded by National Youth Awardee Kadiri Raghu Vamsi. Marpu exists to bridge corporate CSR capital, government reach, and grassroots execution, turning funding and volunteer energy into tangible infrastructure and community outcomes across India.

Marpu Foundation is a registered charitable society headquartered in Hyderabad, Telangana, founded by Kadiri Raghu Vamsi. The organisation implements development projects across India, funded through corporate CSR partnerships and individual donations. It runs programmes across all 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals rather than focusing on a single sector. marpu (1).png Major Areas of Work

- Economic Empowerment: Skill-based volunteering, community nutrition programmes, and resource allocation aimed at addressing poverty and hunger.
- Environmental Sustainability: Solar energy deployment, water purification systems, and Miyawaki forestation projects.
- Community Development: Health camps, school infrastructure upgrades, digital literacy programmes, and gender-focused initiatives like bicycle distribution for girl students.
- Corporate Partnerships: Connecting corporate CSR funding to on-ground project execution.
- Civic & Institutional Strengthening: Programmes supporting citizen engagement with governance and accountability structures.

Major Initiatives & Programmes

- Solar Street Lighting & Study Lamps: Solar installations in off-grid rural areas.
- Clean Water & WASH Infrastructure: RO/UV water purification systems and solar-powered borewells in fluoride-affected and water-stressed regions.
- Miyawaki Dense Forestation: Urban micro-forest plantations for afforestation.
- School Infrastructure Revamp: School upgrades, library setup, and learning material distribution across 20+ states.
- Bicycle Distribution & Menstrual Health Programmes: Initiatives supporting girls' school attendance and health awareness.
- Corporate Employee Volunteering: Structured volunteering programmes for corporate teams.

Impact

- Seven years of operation across India
- Active in 50+ locations across 20+ states and union territories
- 50,000+ direct beneficiaries reported, with a stated wider reach of 50,00,000+ people
- 150+ corporate CSR partners and 20,000+ individual donors
- 80G tax-exemption status under Indian Income Tax law

Marpu works across nearly every SDG area rather than one sector, so staff get exposure to a wide range of project types (energy, water, education, health) within one organisation. The CSR-partnership-driven model means roles here involve regular engagement with corporate funders alongside field execution.

Marpu Foundation suits people interested in CSR implementation and multi-sector development work who want variety across project types rather than deep specialisation in one cause area.
